Subject: Asynchronous Learning Day, Wednesday, April 7
Date: Tuesday, April 06, 2021 9:40:50 AM

Dear Parents/Guardians,

Tomorrow, Wednesday, April 7 will be an asynchronous learning day for students. That means students will have a homework packet to work on or assigned work in their Schoology accounts. Teachers will not be instructing during this day. This plan allows:

1. Teachers who are making the switch from on-line to in-person instruction for the fourth quarter, time to construct their classrooms and talk with previous teachers about their new students' progress.
2. Time for teachers who are teaching on-line to put together supply and material bags for parent pick up.
3. Time for ALL teachers to reach out to ANY new student on their class list, introduce themselves, let them know their classroom number, and begin building positive rapport. We will have 45 new students in the building for the first time on Monday. I want all of our new students excited about being here at Adrian and calm any nervousness that may exist.

Please call the Adrian office at 216-691-2170 if you have any questions.

Mr. Lasky
